Notes

Side A ('This side') shows the generic printed Contagious label logo, side B ('That side') is a blank white label.

Pressed using Direct Metal Mastering.

This is the last release on Contagious Records. Shortly after the first run had been pressed the label went bankrupt, hence the pressing plant could not be paid which lead to the plant destroying the complete run, minus a very limited amount of copies which apparently were sneaked out prior to the destruction of the pressing run.

Track A1 samples:

Vocal from Mix Factory - Burnin' Like Fire

Bass from 808 State - Flow Coma

Track B1 samples:

Vocal from 3-D - Once More You Hear The Dope Stuff

Vocal from Sterling Void & Paris Brightledge - It's Alright

Survivors

Nice history behind it from M.Summers and B. Howard:"The Overdub E.P. was first conceived by DJ's Mark Summers & Ben Howard in Sudbury, Suffolk, in 1993. Hardcore and Jungle was huge in the UK at that time, with Summers & Howard playing the genres out at their 'Paranoia' and 'The Ark' nights, at venues in Sudbury and Southend.Over the course of 2 weeks they met at Mark's home basement studio, digging through their vinyl crates to find all kinds of inspirational material for their tracks. Both DJ's had eclectic tastes in music, and so the basis for 'The Overdub E.P.' was born; with some interesting touches added along the way. Mark had sampled an entire Korg M1 Piano inside a Chelmsford music store onto DAT, and later used that same piano to create the huge hook he played on 'Takes 1'. While Ben had sourced an obscure Reggae break used as the basis for 'Skunk Massive'. Later when DJing at 'The Ark',with Ben Howard, the final master mixes of 'The Overdub E.P.' were heard by DJ Rush Puppy - a nephew of one of the owners of Contagious Records, based in Upminster, Essex. The label had become prominent in 1992 for releasing some of the finest Hardcore/Jungle, and within a few days of hearing 'The Overdub E.P.' they were all set to make it their 11th release.However, the legendary story of what we now know as the fate of this record began to unfold.... Shortly after the first vinyl run had been pressed, Contagious Records went bankrupt; meaning the vinyl pressing plant could not be paid - which lead to the plant destroying the complete run, minus a very limited amount of copies that were sneaked out prior to the destruction of all the remaining pressings. This extremely rare E.P. has since become one of the most highly treasured vinyl items, currently fetching up to £350 per copy on DiscogsNow this obscure gem from the early 90's birth of Drum 'N Bass has been remastered in 2017 by SCORCCIO (from the original master DAT owned by Mark Summers and Ben Howard), finally released 24 years on from its legendary inception and greatly renowned status - as one of the best Piano Hardcore tracks ever written."

NiceOne

Repress is in the planning, will be coming in 2017.

Kieel

Would be all over a repress of this! Please let this be true!

Nalaylewe

Excellent, thanks for that! Will be good to finally own!

Shakar

It's the original masters getting remastered. While the original pressing is known to having not the best mixdown the repress will hopefully at least sound as good or eventually better through the remastering process. fingers crossed. I'm not involved with the repress but so far the guys did good jobs

Felhann

Holy sh*t! GREAT NEWS! Though I thought the masters we long destroyed / didn't sound very good at all?..

Jediathain

Robin Allison on the Private Plates group: "...We already have multiple great treats for 2017 Tango, Unit-E and Underground Music will be dropping more on you soon enough"

Hellmaster

Very interesting! Where did you hear that good news from?

I LOVE 228

Takes 1 is one of the best piano hardcore tracks ever written. I own this vinyl and have to remind myself not to play it over and over again. Played this out @ The Music Room in Atlanta, euphoric way to end the evening.

Defolosk

It needs a repress, no doubt!!

Irostore

Repress it. Let me know. Thanks.

mym Ғудем егo HuK

I'll 2nd that for sure! Been waiting for years now for a release.

Ger

Jesmi

wow Fortune, just checked the sells history, this defo need a re press at £5!!

Nalmezar

This so need a repressing.....

Jube

omg this is sick! Solid production and constant progression throughout! Man, I would love to have this, but would never lay down that sort of money for a copy...I gotta be able to buy food and keep a roof over my head! lol

Nanecele

Would love if done a repress of this such a good tune if anyone wants to sell I'd pay good money for this tune

Throw her heart

What an awesome e.p! Love the acid noises, reminds me of early acid tecno or house, but I'm a jungle, d&b n breaks head at heart, so this is a winning combo. I buy old breakbeat hardcore when a record is good enough or timeless like this. So thanks Discogs, a stumbled-across treat. If anyone has a copy of this, or if you know of any old breaks of the same quality, or Skanna-esque, please let me know. peace love Toby. Just found out it last sold for £241 that's a lot of dosh. Yes someone please do a repress. 7th storey projects - sublogicrecordings n thers the guy's that dun the foul play ep's 1 & 2. Anybody doit please this realy would fly out.

Painwind

nothing a good mastering engineer cant fix and I do have a good one.

Framokay

Think sub logic was going to do a repress but the original DATs weren't that good and would of sounded rubbish so they didn't go through with it I have an original copy but would never sell it ;)

Tori Texer

interesting story behind the track/label. Such a superb release and shame the label ended here....I would have loved to have more releases follow like this....totally exceptional. Wicked Hardcore productions!!
